

Sinolinguist Launches New Website

Shenzhen, 16 January 2014 – Sinolinguist is proud to announce the launch of its brand new website, at <http://www.sinolinguist.com>. The markedly redesigned site, produced by Sinolinguist’s desktop publishing service team, paints the impressive portrait of the company as a professional Chinese language service provider.

The website contains full details about Sinolinguist’s language services — the Service Range, the Languages Offered and the Areas of Expertise, plus the “News” section, where information about the corporate operating conditions is disclosed; the “Credentials” section, which lists certain typical clients and sample works.

Now with years’ experience in the language service sector, the company is proud to unveil its new website as yet another milestone in its remarkable and sustainable development. “The new site presents an impressive style and purpose-driven content” said Bryan Tan, operation director with the company, adding that “we hope to make it smoother and more effective for clients to contact with our team”.
